CHEAP COAL AND WOOD.

One of the largest and most responsible dealers in the city has entered into contract with the ROCH-DALE CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETY OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA to furnish members of the society with Coal and Wood from the present to April 30, 1886, upon terms the most favorable ever heretofore obtained by the society, and at prices much lower than can be obtained from any other source. Every member should secure the advantages offered. Members must be in possession of the Trade (ard for the current year (good until April 30, 1886.) Those who have not already given their orders for coal are urged to do so promptly, as all orders must be in by October 2d. Orders can be given to the following named members, who will give all needed information, and who can also furnish Trade Cards, &c. Persons who are not members of the society can become such without ceremony and at little cost by calling upon any of those named below, and those doing so before October 2d will be entitled to the special advantages of our coal contract, as well of the eighty-odd contracts with tradesmen in all branches of business:

GOVERNMENT RECEIPTS TO-DAY .- Internal revenue, $388,452; customs, $690,240. COL. LAMONT, the President's private secretary, has been called to McGrawville, N. Y., by the illness of his children. HE THINKS HIS TURN HAS COME.-Representative Lawler, of Chicago, is in the city again, this time to urge the appointment of James T. Healey as collector of customs for Chicago. The other Chicago appointments have been made without consulting the wishes of the two members from the city, and Mr. Lawler thinks his turn has come.

AMONG THE PRESIDENT'S CALLERS to-day were Senators McPherson, Dolph, with A. Naltner, of Oregon, and Call; Representatives Laffoon, Lawler, Foran, Landis, O'Neill, Felton and Boyle; the commissioner of agriculture, Major Joseph B. Campbell, 4th artillery; S. V. Niles, E. M. Haines, speaker of the Illinois leg-islature; John T. Given and T. W. Fowler,

COL. T. F. BARR, the Secretary of War's miltary secretary, has returned. He will be relieved from duty here in a few days, and will probably be sent to Fort Snelling. COMMODORE SCHLEY, chief of the bureau of equipment and recruiting, Navy department, eaves to-day for New England for a short va-ation. While absent he will review the trainng squadron at Newport, R. I. ALLEGED FALSE PERSONATION OF A GOV-ERNMENT OFFICIAL.-J. E. Jacobs, special agent of the Pension office, arrested M. Link, resterday at Cold Harbor, Hanover county, Va., for falsely representing himself to be an employe of the Department of the Interior, and demanding money from an applicant for a pension. Link was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Pleasants at Richmond, Va., for a hopering but he advised for a pension but he advised fo nearing, but by advice of counsel waved examination, and was held in $500 bail to await the ction of the grand jury.

REPRESENTATIVE RANDALL, according to he report of an interview with him, published in the Philadelphia Press, "went on to assert practically that he would not be a candidate for the speakership of the next House."

moval for mailing circulars at his office that should have been mailed at Boston, thus increasing his salary, which is based upon the number of stamps canceled. The post office inspectors' investigations have revealed the fact that there are persons in the large cities who make a business of furnishing and addressing great quantities of circulars for firms free of cost, upon the payment of one-cent postage upon each circular. They take these circulars to a small village post office and stipulate with noval for mailing circulars at his office that to a small village post office and stipulate with the postmaster for a slare in his commissions and this share, it seems, is large enough to make the business lucrative.

COMMISSIONER THOMAN'S INDIANA BONDS .-Judge Thoman, who is in Helena, Mont., said this morning, Mr. J. R. Dodge, statistician yesterday in relation to his transactions in In- of the department of agriculture, presents some diana township bonds that he got them in the interesting facts in relation to the production way of legitimate business from A. E. Davis, of and distribution of wheat for a series of years Chicago, his personal friend, and added: "I belong to no syndicate. I have no interest in a paint manufacturing establishment with Mr. Davis. I am not his partner in any business.' MINING INTERESTS IN ALASKA.-Lieut. Commander H. E. Nichols, commanding the U.S. 3. Pinta, in a dispatch to the Navy department dated Sitka, Alaska, August 13th, reports that the ships, during the summer, visited nearly all the principal villages in southeastern Alaska. He says that he was told that Winchester rifles were sold by traders to the Indians. The first shipment of bullion from Douglass island was made in July. After twenty-five days work, as he was informed, $95,000 was shipped to San Francisco. It is estimated that 1,500 Indians were congregated at Juneau, having come from bushes in two years. The effect of this unceralmost every village in southeast Alaska. They went they found nothing to pay. The Jurac river mines (erroneously called Juno in previous reports) had not turned out as expected, though a few miners were at work still. Some quartz mining was going on at Silver bay, near A LOST VOUCHER.—The United States to-day entered suit against Clayton McMichael, marshal of the District, to recover $465, the amount of difference claimed to be due the government in the settlement of his accounts as first lieuenant and regimental quartermaster of the shal that the account has been settled once and that the voucher representing the amount of difference has been lost, and he thinks it unjust to him that he should be called upon to pay the

LIEUT. MASON IN LUCK.—The latest topic of interest in naval circles is the revocation of the question, while the remainder, as Mr. Dodge resignation of Lieut. T. B. M. Mason at his own request. It was tendered on the 28th of May last, immediately after Lieut. Mason's return from the Panama expedition, and was accepted to take effect June 1st, 1886. He immediately went to Europe for an extended trip, and has been traveling there ever since. His resignation is now revoked, and he has the greater part of his leave of absence yet to enjoy, without danger of interruption by sea duty, to which he would probably have been ordered had he remained in Washington. Naval officers think he has done very well. He was very well known in Washington. He was the superintendent of the naval intelligence office at the Navy department and stood in high favor with the last administration. He was always seequest. It was tendered on the 28th of May the last administration. He was always selected by President Arthur to make the naval presentations at his official receptions. NAVAL ORDERS.-Lieut. R. G. Peck, ordered to duty in the bureau of navigation; Pay Director Jas. D. The Judges' Defense. THE ALABAMA CLAIMS COURT EXPENSES NECESSARY AND LEGAL. Secretary Bayard has transmitted Judge Harlan's written defense of the organization of the Court of Alabama Claims (concurred in by his associates on the bench-Judges French and Draper), to the Attorney General for an opinion. The line of defense taken by Judge Harlan is just about that forshadowed in THE STAR. He says no one was employed by the court whose services were not absolutely indispensable, and no money has been spent unnecessarily. He refers to the mandatory provisions of the law authorizing the authorizing the court requiring the work to be done in a certain limited time. Nearly 8,000,000 claims, representing an aggregate sum of $42,000,000, he says, had been filed for disposition by the court at its two sessions, and he suggests that it canot be supposed that Congress intended that one clerk should do the work of ten men; or that one counsel, whose presence was constantly required before the court, should supervise the simultaneous taking of testimony in almost every state or territory of the Union, in England, France, Germany, Japan, China, India, Peru, the West Indian and Hawaiian islands, and in nearly every important seaport on the habitable globe? > Wheat Production and Distribution. INTERESTING FACTS FROM STATISTICIAN DODGE'S REPORT.

In his September report on the condition of the crops, which came from the printing office past. He states that since 1850 the production of wheat in this country has increased twice as fast as population, and that last year's crop was five times as large as that of the year just named. The causes of this rapid increase he finds: 1, In "the possession of large areas of fresh land easily brought into cultivation; 2, bushess in two years. The effect of this uncerworked in the mines and in cutting wood and many of them accumulated a good deep of money, which they seemed to keep. For the miners who were taken by the Pin in May to Chilcoot, to go to the Yukon river had returned. They reported that as far as they went they tound nothing to pay. The June average for the last four years has been averaged to the return of normal seasons in Europe average for the last four years has been averaged to the return of normal seasons in Europe average for the last four years has been averaged to the return of normal seasons in Europe average for the last four years. average for the last four years has been 58,000,000 bushels a year less than our maxioverdone, and that the only remedy for the glut in the wheat market is a reduction of the acreage in that grain and increased attention to other crops. The accuracy of the department estimates as to the amount of wheat produced is sustained in a somewhat remarkable degree by the figures as to exportation for the last eight years, coupled with the most authoritaconclusion is that wheat growing is tive estimates as to the amount used for food and for seed. The average annual consump-tion for the eight years, 1877-1884, as thus shown is 435,088,458 bushels, while the average annual production for the same period, as shown by the figures of the department of agri-culture is 445,457,692 bushels. This slight excess of production over apparent consumption is in great part accounted for by the fact that justly points out, "is scarcely enough for the losses on the lakes by fire."

Pennsylvania avenue. Twelve colored men sat in dull silence with the backs of their chairs against the wall, while John Pope Hodnett addressed the meeting, denouncing the civil service reform law with spirited eloquence. Bemen, who had not come to take any part in the meeting. Mr. Hodnett told of the wrongs done the laboring men and farmers by the law requiring examinations for public service. He said that the office-holding classes were superior to the President; that they formed an aris-tocracy which the empires in Europe had built up by spending money to secure the passage of the civil service law, and that their object was to break up the institutions of the government and seat one of Victoria's sons on the American throne. Then he squatted in an awful attitude of tyranny to show how he an awful attitude of tyranny to show how he would sit on the throne. Then he told them how the workingmen had conquered the world; how they had helped Napoleon First to break all the crowns in Europe, and called upon them to arise and help "this our democratic President, Grover Cleveland," to crush out the manyheaded serpent of civil service law. As he grow in anthusiasm and addressed his since their adoption. Thereupon the secretary read the resolutions, which declared that "true reform of the civil service is to remove the incompetent and dishonest men" whose corrupting practices had rendered the law necessary, and that monopoly in office is as bad as monopoly in railroads. Then it denounced the law and its founders; in-PERSONAL.—Chief Justice Waite will sail for dorsed the present administration and declared that "the workingmen and farmers having men. So these resolutions are the unanimous voice of the American people. Now, if some one will make the motion, we will adjourn."

A WIFE'S BILL FOR DIVORCE.—Mr. T. J. Mackey, as solicitor for Alice V. Lee, to-day filed a petition for divorce from her husband, Wm. F. Lee. Her maiden name was Alice V Win. F. Lee. Her maiden name was Alice V. White, and the parties were married in this District August 19th, 1869, by Rev. Mr. Davis. She charges that he deserted her some two years since, and that she has supported the family, with the assistance of her eldest son, while her husband has led a vagabond life. When she married him she says that he held a respect to he station and was recognized as respectable station and was recognized as a gentleman of honorable birth and character, but during the past four years he has been addicted to criminal practices, and on March 27, 1884, was convicted in the criminal court of Baltimore, Md., of obtaining goods under false pretences and sentenced to a term of imprisonment in the Maryland penitentiary, and served there as a convict. In January, 1885, he was again convicted on the same charge, this time in Alexandria, Va., and served a term of imprisonment in the county jail. In view of these facts she prays for divorce and asks to be given the custody of their children.

It is feared there will be trouble unless the Union Pacific recedes from its position and sends the Chinese out of the country. It is not unlikely, however, that this matter will settle itself in a few days without interference from any one. The Chinese here are becoming demoralized. Thirty of them boarded yesterday's west bound express, and a like number set out for the west on foot with baggage on their backs. The white miners were told they could go back to work this morning, and will likely do so if no attempt is made to work Chinese with them. LONDON, Sept. 16.-Mr. Chamberlain's speech at Glasgow last night was his best so tar. His welcome was of the warmest, the whole sudience rising and singing "For He is a Jolly Good Fellow." He is the first liberal speaker who has been perfectly trank about disestablishment in Scotland, which is one of the most delicate questions of the coming struggle. He said: "I would free the church from state control whether in England, Scotland or Wales, not for political or social reasons, but in the interest of religion itself. I am a liberationist, but," he added, "out of deference to others in the party, I don't make these views an indispensable co dition of your support, as the great question will not be decided in the next parliament." He said significantly, "but for the possibility of a new and unnational combination between the upholders of authority and privilege and the traditional defenders of the constitution on the one hand and irresponsible opponents of the integrity of the empire on the other, the radicals could fight the tories singlehanded." Replying to the attack of the Times, he said: "I agree with the late Mr. Cobden, who said the opposition of the Times was an indispensable condition of any successful prosecution of libera

SANDY HOOK, Sept. 16, 11:25 a. m.—The After all the boxes containing the remains of the dead Chinamen had been removed to the morgue the coroner was interviewed in regard to the matter. He stated that when he arrive at the cellar in which the bodies were stored, and in which putrified remains which had still to be boiled were lying, he set to work to break open the boxes. There were some sixty bodies in alt. Each box contained a tin case in which, carefully wranged in citator. case, in which, carefully wrapped in oil-cloth were a number of human bones. The smaller bones and long strips of skin were wrapped up in separate parcels and placed within the larger ones. On the outside of each box was a label bearing Chinese characters giving the name of the dead persons within, so that the remains could be identified by relatives in China. After could be identified by relatives in China. After having opened several of the boxes the coroner concluded to selze the whole lot, and remove them to the morgue. Express wagons were called for the purpose. While the cases were being placed in the wagons some of them rolled off and fell to the pavement, breaking open and exposing the contents. The crowd which had assembled, upon learning the cause of the excitement, jumped on the bodes and in their indignation trod them under foot. The police quickly interposed, and the loading continued without further interruption. The remains were removed to the morgue. Most of the boxes containing remains were on exami-nation found to have come from cities in the in-terior of the state. The remains were shipped from there to San Francisco in common tea
